thanks jack, i'm still lost lol. i asked my fly mentors up here and not a single one of them had a matching answer. 😞

one says one gap length no more. his nephew says 2x gap, and both are amazing tyers and fisherman. and the boy wonder prodigy of the both of them says depends on the fly, then proceeded to email some guy in the catskills, who is i guess huge into heritage tying for his opinion.

man this seems like a bit more than just a simple one answer fits the question scenario...
