Thanks. I almost always try to have some fishing gear with me. There's been too many times when I was somewhere and had time to fish yet didn't have any gear with me. Where I was today I am very familiar with and I frequent the area rivers and streams a lot, so I packed my gear accordingly just in case I would happen to fish, but I wasn't planning on it. My summer's been hectic also with family and other stuff. Next weekend too. My fishing(locally though) has actually been more consistent during the week. Weekend fishing has mostly been dependent on where I'm at and if I have time or not to fish. The gear's always going to be in the vehicle though, never know when you're gonna need it!
