I understand your skepticism for sure. They work wonders on the LL but we both know they are mostly stocked fish. Did okay on the Saucon but I'm interested in how you fare with them. I agree with you about them sometimes being hard on spinners so I keep some of those in the box too. I've never tried the AI's Trico but I think I may have to change that. Many guys on this forum do advocate them so maybe I'll just have to get over my damn stubbornness and give em a try.
