You have some good advice so far. You are trying to learn to tie the EHC, so don't switch to a cdc or snowshoe mutation until you master this. If anything, go backwards and master a Griffiths gnat. It is hard to tell from your picture, but the body proportions and palmered hackle look like they need work. Once you nail the GG, all you need to do is add a wing and you have an EHC (ignoring differences in materials). The wing should be sparser as noted, and could be stacked better. Just take it one step at a time.
