Bad news for sure.

And unfortunately, I also fear that we're going to be hearing this kind of thing more and more.

My brother- in-law has a camp near the yough river, by confluence.

And I get down there several times a year for get togethers. He has lots of other friends who also have camps there, that I get to talk to. And when I bring up the subject of didymo in that river - none of them seem to have even heard about it, let alone care about taking precautions while utilizing the river.
