

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Aluminum for traction

Re: Aluminum for traction

Author: : pwk5017

Date: : 2013/7/9 19:04:04

URL:

I have the patagonia boots. One, I noticed they got better after the aluminum wore a bit. Two, they are complete crap on a smooth uniform surface--such as slate, huge boulders etc. Ive had a few times where i felt like i was iceskating. I had similar issues with spikes though, so I would say they are alot like spikes, only much kinder to boats and cars.