

---

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Pine Creek watershed probable issue

Re: Pine Creek watershed probable issue

Author: : dryflyguy

Date: : 2013/7/9 23:52:38

URL:

Quote:

BradFromPotter wrote:

Where did this stuff come from?

Actually, it is native to cool temperate waters of the far northern hemisphere.

It needs cool water to thrive, so that's why tailwaters have been prime places for it to take hold after introduction.

I would also think that true spring creeks would be good places for it to become established.