Troy,

Regarding the fly fishing gear, I pre-shipped mine out there, but I carried it on to the plane, during the trip back. The airlines did not give me any hassle.

I didn't think it would be any hassle in Colorado. They see rods everyday. Philly, not so much. I'm just going for it. I printed out the TSA rules on fishing gear just in case I get hassled, even though that probably won't do squat.

Now that you went out west, it will be in your blood forever. It really has that affect on you.
