I've always wanted to check out that other nearby stream, but I've heard it has an appropriate name.

The bottom is easy to access but there is a high falls very close to the mouth, then above the falls is all shallow over flat bedrock for quite a long ways. I think the more promising water is at least halfway up the creek but there is no access. The only convenient road is heavily posted right where it crosses.

I've tried it a few times. Got skunked. Skunked I say! Skunked, skunked, skunked, skunked!

Skunked!

Oops.

There are several other streams that hold wild trout within 20-45min though. Wild trout are where you find them.
