I love fishing alone, its the only real solitude I get as I work in the public sector. I usually try not to keep track of fish when I am fishing with a friend because I am not out there to 'out do' somebody else. I like having competitions with people just not in the fishing realm. I am a very selfish fisherman but I do force myself to give up the best spots to who ever I am fishing with as I get out 3-4 times a week religiously. Now if you fish more than me, or are just better at it... I won't let you get any nice holes. You can fish in my dust haha
