You should check out Joe Humphreys "Casting in Tight Brush" video...even my non FFing friend were entertained.

Stealth is a huge factor...this can mean crawling around to get into position. I've even used a knee pad so you can rest on a rock or something...otherwise your legs can get sore from squatting all day

A shorter rod would help, I have a 6' 2wt for these situations...its like a wet noodle but you can throw loops right off your hip. If you're stuck with a longer rod, you can always choke up...
