The thread below about fishing alone got me thinking about Personal Locator Beacons.

Does anybody here use them? They can be pricey. The cheapest I found is around $250. Many have monthly fees, too. But I also see a Smart Phone App that can transmit out of cell range for about $120.

I figure they might give a bit of piece of mind when out in the middle of nowhere and could very well save your life. That considered, a few C notes is a small price to pay.
