a fishing partner can make things safer or not. a person who gets lost, doesn't act on weather issues, or otherwise gets themselves in trouble, can get you in trouble.

It's a wonder anyone fishes with us Bob!

All kidding aside, this is true. Don't fall into the trap of overconfidence just because there's someone else there with you. Stick to your plan...if you know you need 2 hours to hike out while it's still daylight don't keep pushing ahead just because you have someone with you. Don't guess on a brush bust up over the mountain if you're not sure exactly where you are or where it will take you...follow the stream back out to a known point, even if it's a longer walk.
