Troy,

At the Denver airport, I've see lots of guys carrying rod tubes. No so much in Philly. But good luck carrying your stuff. Where in Rocky Mtn Natl Park are you headed? Backcountry or just day trips? There's lots of beautiful lakes to pick from. Next week I'm headed to Lawn Lake, on the east side near Estes Park. A few years ago, on the Fishermans Paradise website, someone posted about spending a few days there, and it's been on my list since!

Tagging on from another post about locator devices, the PA State Park app has maps and gps, and it worked out there great. Somehow it had topo maps for Colorado.
