Jeremy - Another good option is snowshoe rabbit.

A snowshoe rabbit's foot can be had for around 5 or 6 bucks, and will allow you to tie flies from tricos up to big stuff.

It takes floatant well, and is naturally bouyant. It's a great alternative to hackle.

If you can wait until one of the flyfishing shows in January or March, you can pay a visit to Charlie Collins. His hackle is very reasonably priced, and good quality.
