CDC, graded deer and elk hair, polypro. Add dubbing and you can float all kinds of patterns reasonably well with any one or combination of these. They are in fact often superior catchers given the need to tie them fairly sparse in order for them to perform properly.

Search videos by Mcphail for CDC, Craig Mathews Sparkle Dun for hair, and reverse engineer guttcutter's patterns for poly pro. Another polypro pattern is the Rackelhannen which is easily searched--In black a simple terrestrial.
