If you guys do that, I'd love to join you. A trip to Switzerland is seriously in the cards for my family w/in the next few years. My wife has significant family in Germany still, and having lived in Switzerland for a year, she wants to travel down and visit her host family that housed her. Also, being Presbies, the town of Geneva has religious historical significance to us stemming back to the Reformation (named our daughter after that city). I would love to pick his brain about fishing over there!
