In all honesty...just air conditioning. The really cold streams...true limestone springs, tailraces (relatively near the release point), and extreme headwater freestoners will sometimes have a layer of cooler air a few feet over them that makes these conditions borderline bareable in fishing attire. Other than those circumstances I generally won't fish...even wet wading a WW stream gets tough once the air temp hits 90.

+1. Find something else to do until things cool off a bit. I was thinking yesterday that some of my best ww fishing didn't start until football season last year.
