and extreme headwater freestoners will sometimes have a layer of cooler air a few feet over them that makes these conditions borderline bareable in fishing attire.

That is true, my brother and i camped on a stream up in Sproul around the 4th of July and the air temp was about 85 on the ridges. Down in the streambed it was about 75. It cooled down to about 60 by 10:00pm at night and the forecasted low for that area was 65. The stream was bank full and about 60 degrees though, so the cooling effect was more significant then than it is now with lower water levels.
