Depending on what tribs you go to, a single hand rod might be a better choice since some tribs are more like creeks than rivers.

If you do choose to go to the salmon river, prepare yourself for crowds and you will most likely have to walk a little ways to have room to spey cast. It can be done and it can be quite enjoyable, but don't expect to have a run to yourself for very long. Nothing like a king or coho smashing a swung fly!!
