The hackle is really tough to see, that's why you went with the brown hackle?

Did you mean, that's why you went with the brown marabou? I kept thinking about switching it up and trying marabou. Maybe I will on a couple of them.

I get what you're saying about putting the weight in the arse of the crayfish. I just couldn't bring myself to put the eyes at the anus 😊 I think what I'll do is, when I get lighter eyes I'll weight the back end of the fly near the eye with lead wraps.
