A couple weeks ago we were dealing with a lot of high water (around me). I really wanted to still get out fishing but I knew I had to change my tactics a little bit. This fly ended up being a great producer for me. It has a lot of movement and is so simple to tie. Hopefully the video helps a little.

Hook: Long shank nymph hook or streamer hook

Bead: Gold Tungsten

Optional lead wire*

Rubber Legs - I like centipede legs but you can use whatever

Body - variegated chenille (olive, yellow, brown, etc)
