Really?

I was just tryin' to tell a story about the legacy of our sport, and tell about a touching moment.

If the rest of you feel that way, just delete the damn thread.

I enjoyed you're sharing the story. This is a story not just of an elderly gentleman but of your relationship and in a sense the "passing of the guard". You certainly respect the fellow and I'm sure will put the equipment to use as he intended. I don't see any issue with sharing your thoughts on this forum.
