great story Sas, glad you told it here. Your honoring him by using his stuff, he probably wouldn't have given it to you if he didn't think you would use and enjoy it, so use and enjoy it to the fullest.

to the naysayers, hey, we all go belly up eventually, and with any type of luck, we can all pass on our equipment to someone who will cherish it and use it when the time comes.

Sure beats finding out your family threw it in the dumpster or sold it at the yard sale.

your a good person Andy.
