

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Bittersweet Moment

Re: Bittersweet Moment

Author: : kbobb

Date: : 2013/7/18 18:53:54

URL:

A huge responsibility to be sure and a great honor to be entrusted with some of the most prized possessions of someones life.

I believe that fly fishing gives us all on this forum life, a kind of zen like wonder that few things besides family can match. Do you think it might be good to keep sharing your experiences with him while he's still able to understand, and also assure him that his "life" is giving you "life" as well.

Would it be a good idea to have a special kid catch his first fish on one of these rods and tell the kid tales of where it came from and what it means? this fellow may appreciate that his life is giving life to a special youngster and that as such he will continue to live on the streams.