

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : 8lb bass uncatchable?

Re: 8lb bass uncatchable?

Author: : BeastBrown

Date: : 2013/7/19 14:38:15

URL:

How hot is the water recently? Peak digestion in largemouth is between 77 and 80, and they prefer high 70s to 80 from what I've read. However, this large fish may be more acclimated to cooler water in a flowing body of water and may be a bit sluggish.

For flies, I like to be contrarian with monster bass and have always had excellent luck with smaller marabou streamers in white and black pulsed. I don't really like large deer hair for the monsters, I like to stay subsurface with smaller wets and streamers(smaller relative to 1/0 hooks.) Try for him at night too, 10pm to 2am.