I just wanted to bump this as a reminder to newbies that this event is coming up this Saturday. Please check out the Meet Ups forum for more info. This event is free except that we ask you bring something to share at the after fishing/instructing picnic.

You really need to consider joining us because I don't know where you can get this kind of free info by some very seasoned fly anglers (myself excluded, of course) plus on the water tips and instruction.

Don't miss out because it will be another year until this event comes around again!
