DanVerona,

Some real nice sunnies there! The one looks to me like it may actually be a bit of a cross between a bluegill and pumpkinseed. The gill plate looks like a pumpkinseed but I am not seeing the red edge on the dark portion of the gill plate like is on a purebred pumpkinseed. I could be wrong. As far as your flies go, some flies fish just as good or better as they start to wear after catching a number of fish. Keep tying and good luck!
