Timmy,

Just got back from the upper D. The fishing was extremely technical. The hatches of sulphurs were strong and you better have good patterns in sizes 20 and even down to 22. The fish were sporadic some of the time. Saturday had great hatches but not many rising fish. It got better sunday and monday. We caught some really nice fish but we really had to work for them. None of them came easy.

These were some of the pickiest fish I ever fished over. I had several fish actually nose my fly to check and see if it was real or not. A few also took the fly and immediately spit it out. Long leaders and tippet are a must. Good luck.

That sounds like business as usual on the delaware
