

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Middle Yough Conditions

Re: Middle Yough Conditions

Author: : pwk5017

Date: : 2013/7/24 13:31:06

URL:

hahaha yes, that is what I was afraid of. I biked up there 2 weeks ago, and the flow wasnt anything extreme(maybe 1200-1500 cfs in ohio) and the river was a muddy mess. I found out why when I got to confluence.

Yep, I just checked the dam outflow. They doubled what they had forecasted. This yough trip is looking more and more unlikely for tomorrow.

You two think there is a fishable population left in meadow run? With these cooler nights, I wouldnt feel guilty fishing it. I hiked it last august with my girlfriend and I spotted quite a few holdovers. Last summer was brutal with the temps and drought, so this summer had to be easier on the fish in that stream.