To be clear my attitude toward tipping in no way reflects what I actually do when out. I just resent that employers don't seem to pay a liveable wage and that I not only play for the service but then have to pay the extra. It's just not right.

I'll admit that if it's a 1 guy operation he should get more but then why not charge more if you're that good. Apologies to Old Lefty if I somehow offended him.
