Well I was a damn good technician for over 20 years, I never asked for nor did I receive any tips. In fact the terms of engagement stated No gifts may be accepted.

My objection to tips has always been, why should I have to pay extra for good service, good service is expected. These days with the internet being what it is, a guide that didn't give good service wouldn't be around very long. that's the last I'll say about it.
