When I used to hunt - I quit about 7 years ago now - I was always torn between grouse hunting and FF in fall. I actually used to do both on some trips to central pa - chase birds in the morning, and fish in the afternoons, which is the best time of day for rising fish at that time of year.

But fishing was always my first love - and it wasn't very hard for me to give up hunting when I did.

But there are some times when I come across a nice looking thicket, and I get some thoughts of tramping through it with a shotgun. Maybe some day again.....
