

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Neck/head buff

Re: Neck/head buff

Author: : Tloomis

Date: : 2013/7/25 15:48:01

URL:

Just got my first buff this weekend. Simms Sunarmour in the blue camo pattern suckered me in so I got that and matching stripping gloves. Definitely not worth the money if it starts to fade after a season or two, but I'm a brand whore I guess...

Gotta say, I friggin love those gloves for musky fishing. After chucking a double 7/0 on my 10wt for 8 hours last weekend I needed some gloves. I hope they last though. Seem to be good quality though.

As for the buff, I love the way it looks, feels, and fits. When it's down I don't even notice it, and it definitely kept the sun off me. It fits great when I put it up, and the breathing holes are nice. I don't like when my breathing is restricted and my buff warms up. But again, there's not much to it.....but it looks sweet as hell