

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Fishing Shirts

Fishing Shirts

Author: : Tloomis

Date: : 2013/7/25 15:57:21

URL:

Hey all,

Where do you go when you want to purchase a fishing shirt? I'm talking the button down, lightweight (or heavier for fall/winter), collared shirts. I've only worn a columbia PFG shirt, but I really liked it. Not enough to spend 60+ on one though as I have learned I am REALLY good at ruining things. A buddy of mine has a really sweet patagonia fishing shirt that has a bunch of outlined trout all over it, but isn't too flashy. I forget where he got it, but I know it was a killer deal. Patagonia (or Patagucci as we jokingly call it) makes some really cool stuff...

I saw a Cabelas Guide series (or something like that) on sale this weekend in Hamburg for 31.99 a shirt, but couldn't settle on a size/color combo that I liked. Not many regular sizes left (but tons of 1-5XL). I'm really picky about the way a shirt fits me.

So where do you guys go for shirts like this? Also, if you order them offline, how is the sizing? Like I said, I'm very picky about the way something fits, so I can be hesitant to order clothing offline if I don't trust it.

Thanks

Ty