This thread has reaffirmed my belief that guides don't make anywhere near enough money for spending 8+ hours a day with some of the people involved in this sport.

Amen to this. I've been hanging out and fishing with some guides since I've been out in Montana (when they have a day off, once every two weeks), and it has certainly made me give up any dreams I had of trying to stay out here and be a guide. It's not easy work, and they sure as hell aren't making 50-60k. What a joke.

pwk, I hope for the guide's sake that you hold off on booking one and just learn the Yough on your own if it's so easy.
