

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Guide Tipping

Re: Guide Tipping

Author: : krayfish

Date: : 2013/7/26 17:46:52

URL:

I definitely don't envy the guides. On a slow river like the Delaware, you might share a pool with 4-5 drift boats. As I'm anchored up eating a granola bar, I watch what's going on in the guide boats. Looking at some of these clients, you'd have a better chance of teaching Stephen Hawking to double haul than have one of these guys hit a hula hoop at 15'. I think I'm quite personable (in spite of being a d-bag). I also enjoy helping other anglers but don't think I could hang with what those guys see every day. I think Brandon had a guy stick almost a dozen flies in his shirt & hat while guiding. Made the guy move to the other end of the boat. LOL