

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Middle Yough Conditions

Re: Middle Yough Conditions

Author: : hendeylathe

Date: : 2013/7/26 18:25:02

URL:

With the water that they're letting out of the dam, I gotta wonder if there's not a whitewater kayak convention going on at Ohiopyle.

JEB, as far as an abundant number of trout at the tailrace, they always dump stockies in for holiday weekends. Heck, the Yough tailrace is probably the most heavily stocked water per square foot in the state.

PWK, I bike & fish the Yough also from Ohiopyle up. Probably run into you someday. I've been skunked and I've had 40+ fish days(all on dries), that's why they call it fishin' not catchin'. My best catch & release so far this year was my first day on the Yough about 8 weeks ago. A healthy fat Brownie in 24" to 26" class on a #16 Cripple BWO dry on 5X tippet. Wish my brother would have been there to see it. Good luck all.