More often than not I hunt during archery season and the rifle deer seasons but I do a lot of fishing in between and on Sundays during those particular seasons.

It's interesting to see the responses here. Hunting and fishing are often categorized together and often if one enjoys one of these 'sports' they do the other. Fishing seems to have a more diversified group as far as personal beliefs go.

FWIW I don't agree with the notion that fishing is not a blood sport. Fish obviously do bleed and any that are saved for the table are no different than a deer, pheasant, or turkey in my opinion.
