

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : High Water Streamer Flies and Tactics

Re: High Water Streamer Flies and Tactics

Author: : tulenkot

Date: : 2013/7/28 20:33:38

URL:

^^ Agree^ Fish will hug the banks in high water or hang out in slower water wherever it exists. I like a size 4 or 6 conehead black bugger with some flash tied in. I tend to fish slightly up and across while mending to keep hanging as close to the opposite bank as you can. Then let it swing across and strip it up the bank your on. You generally wont catch a ton of fish but you will get a surprise every so often. The streamer size sounds big but even smaller trout will take it some times. I have caught fish this way when most people would consider the stream to be completley blown. But hey, when the wife says you can fish, you go fish!