

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : High Water Streamer Flies and Tactics

Re: High Water Streamer Flies and Tactics

Author: : streamerguy

Date: : 2013/7/28 22:24:07

URL:

And don't overlook some of the faster, shallower runs. During my last trip to Spring Creek I caught quite a few in some shallow riffles when the water was borderline blown out. My brother lost a nice one on a big articulated streamer in water you would normally just wade through.

I agree with the other posters, but JeffK makes a good point about not being afraid to go big and to cover water. You can definitely be surprised at some of the nice fish that decide to show themselves when the water is up.