When I first started, I practiced a lot on warm water streams, fishing for sunfish. It's not the same as fishing for trout obviously, but it will help you turn the striking motion into muscle memory. And sunfish are not as finicky about drag as trout - they actually like it!

I live in lower Bucks (Newtown area) and the trout fishing really doesn't exist much. Much of my fishing free time (unless I prepare to drive 1hr+) is in WW and its fun. That said; I don't concentrate close as much as I do on a trout stream ie: what you wrote. Gonna try to get out this week and actually practice and concentrate on some of the tips I picked up.
