

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Dry Fly Fishing

Re: Dry Fly Fishing

Author: : Heritage-Angler

Date: : 2013/7/29 10:47:41

URL:

Stagger - There's no set time that you have before you set the hook. It can vary quite a bit.

Sometimes a fish slurps the fly in gently and noses back down. Sometimes the fish slam a dry fly and basically hook themselves.

It's something you have to get a feel for over time. Nobody ever became a skilled golfer by just reading golfing forums and watching youtube videos. These things can help you get better at it, but there's just no substitute for getting out there and actually doing it.

If you take nothing else (knowledge wise) with you your next time out, take this with you about the reach mend.