Clearly you nymph with a strike indicator 1 inch below your fly line and your drift is absolutely disgusting.

Or am I also making assumptions about you not knowing anything.

Kpitts you stated "I never understood why people feel the need...blah blah blah" if I read that correctly you stated I never understood.

If you don't understand, why would you bash a product you clearly do not understand it's use? That is ignorance.

This rod is geared towards a niche market. It is not for everyone, but the guys it is meant for, will appreciate its concepts. I am guessing it was not made for you.
