Proudly own and operate a Walton Powell Hexagraph 7'6" 4/5 it is my #1 rod for small stream fishing as well as dry fly work on local limestoners. It is a matter of preference I suppose. just like with anything else.

I laugh at guys that whine about weight of fly rods...

There was a time when rods weighed a lot more, there was time when guys didn't blame their tools for the lack of success also. If a rod is too heavy perhaps a little bit of manual labor may strengthen your resolve.
