Library is great I agree. I have about 4 books out right now from my local library, and a DVD. Why pay for most books when you can use them for free for weeks at a time. Some of those books are really expensive and I can't imagine I would be reading them over and over unless its a pattern/reference book. They have Charlie Craven's Basic fly tying at my local library and that was one of the best beginner books I read. I learned more from that book than I did from about 3 or 4 other books combined. That orvis book is a decent book as well, it has large pictures and good instructions but not as thorough as cravens book.
