

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Mold on hackle skins

Re: Mold on hackle skins

Author: : Dcap240

Date: : 2013/7/29 13:09:20

URL:

I can't tell you from experience but I was told by someone knowledgable at a fly shop that mold on feathers is no bueno. He said to toss them right away and clean and rebag everything else. I don't remember exactly but I think he said it could be some kind of mites. But wait to hear from someone else who knows for sure before throwing away good hackles. Maybe if its just a little bit you can pick off the contaminated feathers and clean the rest.