Back in the early 2000s I did some charter boat blues fishing. I thought that they should have had a size limit then. One person caught about 6-8 blues and just left them on the deck.

Also, I did some Rockbass charter fishing and they (boat Captain and crew) never checked peoples catches to see if their fish were in the size limit. It more or less turned my stomach and I never went since.

Did not think to bring my flyrod on any of those trips.
