I visited the Big Spring Creek (Cumberland Valley) last evening and witnessed 2 vehicles from Virginia and some large earth moving equipment. It looks like it will become ugly out there real soon. Equipment and many tons of various sized rock were located at the first parking lot upstream from Nealy Road. The parking lot was marked with signs closing it. Upstream was staked and marked with many fluorescent tapes. A temporary platform has also been built.

This might make it a little tougher for me to catch a 33" brown!

This was the best outline of work plans I could find:
