turkey: Interesting information. I take it you have and like this rod? Buying the blank and finishing it myself is not a bad price at all. I may have to give this some consideration. Thanks

Jim, I don't have one. I'm very interested in them however. The story of the Powell family and how they lost their rod building business doesn't seem fair. The current Hexagraph rods do seem pricey to me. Especially since you can find used bamboo rods from modern makers at comparable prices. I may be able to get my hands on a used 5wt. If I do I'll report back here.
